1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 42-88 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being incomplete for omitting essential elements, such omission amounting to a gap between the elements. See MPEP § 2172.01. The omitted elements are: the circuit means for controlling the advancement of the elongate lead in response to the output signal from the force sensor. Also the radioactive source and catheter are not positively claimed elements.

3. Also the declaration lists claims 42-112 as newly submitted and pending, however the examiner cannot find claims 92-112. It is unclear whether claims 92-112 are missing or the declaration was mistaken and there are only claims 42-91.

4. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

5. Claims 89-90 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 32 of U.S. Patent No.

Art Unit: 3736

5,851,172. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because they both define a housing, a radioactive source and/or an elongate lead supporting a radioactive source, a modular cassette adapted for storing a radioactive source that is removably coupled such that the cassette is readily replaced by another having a different radioactive source and a drive for advancing the radioactive source from the cassette into a catheter.

6. Claim 91 is rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 41 of U.S. Patent No. 5,851,172. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because they both claim the same method of advancing a radioactive source.

7. While a double patenting rejection on claims 42-88 has not been made at this time since claim 42 is considered to be incomplete, should claim 42 be amended include the circuit and/or control means, claim 42 would substantially be the same as claims 1 and/or 36 and a double patenting rejection would be warranted.
